First, we should understand that poverty is the natural state of the world and the big mystery of human history is not how people become poor (that's easy, do nothing), but how people get rich. Once we recognize that fact, we have to shift our way of thinking about poverty and start seeing growing wealth as a consequence of people's ability to create and exchange goods and services with each ...

Mother Teresa once said, “Loneliness and the feeling of being unwanted is the most terrible poverty. Being unwanted, unloved, uncared for, forgotten by everybody, I think that is a much greater hunger, a much greater poverty than the person who has nothing to eat.”

30/11/2015 · Global warming can spur disease, ravage crops and push more people into poverty. Conflict over water or smaller harvests could instigate war or mass migration.

First premise: If we can prevent something bad without sacrificing anything of comparable significance, we ought to do it. Second premise: Extreme poverty is bad. Third premise: There is some extreme poverty we can prevent without sacrificing anything of comparable moral significance. Conclusion: We ought to prevent some extreme poverty.

In light of this, we have a couple of suggestions to help you easily do your part to end poverty in your neighborhood and even worldwide. 1. Break the guilt cycle. Too often we hear about the state of poverty in the world and do nothing about it. We see the poor begging in the street, and many of us pretend they're not there and just keep walking.

Indifference. "All that is required for evil to prevail is for good men to do nothing." (Generally attributed to Edmund Burke) We do not have to be greedy, fearful or dishonest to have a detrimental effect on others. Indifference to the need of others is a major cause of poverty and enables it to persist.

8/1/2021 · No Poverty. End poverty in all its forms everywhere. Goal 1 in Action Explore the Targets. Eradicating poverty is not a task of charity, it's an act of justice and the key to unlocking an enormous human potential. "If we do nothing, the nation we leave to our children and grandchildren will be a desolated, third-world failure, in which whites will be a despised minority. Western Civilization will be a faint echo, vilified if it is even audible. There is no other tragedy that is at once so great, so unnatural, and so unnecessary."

better to invert the if! Also please note your code is not properly formatted in the answer. Finally the given example really does not do anything, will therefor raise a warning. So hence it would be better and certainly less confusing for a second reader to just write nothing.
