The Catholic tradition believes that reason and faith work together, and that reason can promote faith and vice versa. In what way can an intellectual conversion be a step towards faith? If a person can reason that a transcendent realm exists, it may prepare the way for a faith conversion.

The author shows that the beliefs of Catholics and other Christians are reasonable, not based on blind faith. Drawing on Catholic and Christian theological traditions, the book links traditional teaching with contemporary issues to illustrate the relevance of faith to modern cultural, ethical, and scientific issues.--From publisher's description.
